“ To the dear and near ones of Cindy:

I may be familiar to some of you and may not be to many. I am one of Cindy's many friends and admirers. I have known her through Gayla Noneaker, my forever friend.

Ever since my first introduction to Cindy, I felt, deep in my soul, that she has a special gift to bring people closer and make them feel important. It strengthened my thoughts about her each time and whenever we had an opportunity to spend more time with her through our multiple get togethers. She is one of those people that God has sent to us so that we could see His goodness through people like Cindy. People like her are few and far in between among us. I, for one, feel fortunate to know her. Every time I came in contact with her, I felt her kindnesses beyond imagination, found her laughter contagious, her sweet manners and heartfelt hugs made me feel not just a friend but may even be related to her as brother and sister. You may not be able to imagine how profound that was to me. It is a lot easier for others to be near and feel closer to her but it was different with me. I am a Muslim man with a name that starts with Muhammad. It was only possible for me to meet and know her because I was Gayla's friend and for the grace of God. She welcomed me into her life like she was my long lost sister. It was that special of a feeling to me. I wished so often that she lived close to Gayla and I so that we could see her often. I feel very sad when I think that she won't be here for me to talk with anymore.

Her loss is immense to us all! Your pain is real and for here to stay for a long time to come.

I really understand your pain from this tremendous loss and what you are going through now or what you may face in the future without her! Please know that I will keep her in my heart and in my prayers. I will always keep my memories of her that she helped to create in me. I thank God for giving me such a short time to know Cindy and her gracefulness who helped in enriching my life! She is that special to me!

I thank God for bringing Gayla in to my life who made it possible for me to know her cousin and friend, Cindy! Thank you Gayla for that priceless gift to me!

May God bless Cindy's soul and keep her in heaven!

May God bless us all!

“ Cindy was like a part of our Family for many years. She worked for my Mom for years and that is when we became friends. She was the kindest most caring persons I know. I know she is having a reunion with her husband Sam and all her Family members. She will be missed but never ever forgotten! Her smile will always be a comfort to me!
