“ I don't know if I will ever know a man more kind than Mr. Tucker.
When we moved next door, he immediately opened his heart to us like family.

He would come over to bring sweets for my children constantly—cookies, doughnuts, cupcakes—and every year (for the 5 years we have been here) he would bring each of them a pint of ice cream on the last day of school.

He would tell them stories from his childhood and build them birdhouses.
He would teach them about gardening, about the farmers almanac and about the moon.

He would stop by to ask us if we wanted to watch hummingbirds drink from his feeders and he would teach my children about hummingbirds while we watched.
When i would drive past his house, he would wave me down to show me a picture of a moth or bunny he saw.

He was so special and so pure.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker were the first people, outside of family, to hold my youngest son the day we came home from the hospital.

Doris holding my son and smiling wide will forever be a memory I hold dear.

She was so sweet and always wanted to talk to my children when they would stop by.

Every picture or drawing my children gave them, they put on their fridge.

They were once in a lifetime neighbors and friends.

We will miss them greatly.

“ Uncle Jack was a dear sweet patient person. He gave his children and us a wonderful example to follow. He was so attentive to us and always did fun things with us. He taught us how to work and be responsible and what it means to be faithful and honest. I am so thankful for his wonderful influence in my life. He was always happy and cheerful. I am thankful and blessed to be a part of his family.
