“ Alan, My Friend, you have fought a tremendous battle, now, rest in peace. So many good times we shared; some we can say out loud, some we can't but they were all good times to you and me. Coming out to your house was always an adventure for me. There were trees to climb, a creek to fall in, rocks to be thrown and your wonderful parents to make sure we didn't get in to too much trouble. I pray for strength for your family. Make sure you line out some good places to visit when we meet up again...
