“ May you find comfort in the memories that are yours to cherish always, and strength in the companionship of those who share your loss.... I have learned never to underestimate the healing power we all have. It is always there to be used for the highest good. Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted. (Matthew 5:4) May it be a source of inner strength to know that there's a loving God watching over you, and that, throughout this time of need, He'll stay close by your side. I have fought the fine fight, I have run the course to the finish, I have observed the faith.-2Timothy 4:7. As for me, I will lie down that I may sleep; I shall certainly awake, for Jehovah himself keeps supporting me. -Psalms 3:5

“ *Hey Mom,
I just wanted to let you know why i didnt make it to your funeral. As you know I've been to many funerals in the past. I've come to learn that "The Funeral" part of death is the worst thing for me. And being that I had already somewhat got use to you being gone from being in the hospital, seeing you be burried would have broke me all the way down!! I miss you terribly, but im happy your finally home and out of pain. I love you and nothings the same since you've been gone.*
