“Wow! We met by accident but spent over a year talking and texting. We met when he was having a rough time and shortly after that I was sitting in a cancer center getting tested to rule out a lymphoma and i was scared to tell him and when a month or so went by and hadn't heard from him, well we were very similar and as I was being wheeled into recovery after a bone marrow biopsy as I am still out of It on propofol and I see an unknown number but It read simply Florida? To which I replied back Texas? In a short amount of time not only did make a stamp in my heart for a lifelong friend and he wasn't afraid to say how he felt and I appreciate that because I myself am te exact same way. We haven't spoken since July but he knew that he had a forever friend in Florida. My heart is breaking and for all the family and people that loved him, my condolences. My tears are flowing and just about 5 AM I actually sent him a text as well as on his birthday. My heart is breaking and sadly We didn't get to say goodbye. Poor Copper dog. :(gone too soon and and I don't know what that is but I hope he has some peace. I will pray for all the family and his love ones and I will always have a piece of room in my heart he made a big impact on my life. When I told him I had a blood cancer he didn't run he was there for me at a time when a lot of people wor I hope he has some peace. I will pray for all the family and his love ones and I will always have a piece of an in my heart he made a big impact on my life. When I told him I had a blood cancer he didn't run he was there for me at a time when a lot of people werent and we cross pass for reason just like we do everybody in life. Rest In Peace Chantry. The Florida sunshine will never dull. Until we meet again. Thank you for teaching me one the biggest lessons in life and I'm glad I let you in my life ..

“ Oh sweet Chantry. I met Chantry at UT Tyler. It became a ritual for us to meet in the UC and have breakfast or lunch. Chantry always came through with a big hug and a good joke. He was a very special guy. I'm so sorry for your loss.

I'm sorry for your loss. Chantry and I worked together and hung out between 2011 and 2013 and lost touch after that. We worked together at Thomas petroleum together and I must say, we always had a laugh and good times together. Sad to hear he left the world so soon! Terrible to hear this news, as we hung out a lot in those two years. My thoughts and prayers to his family.

“ I’ve been trying to narrow down a particular memory that i can share about Chantry, but they are all running together. There’s so many conversations, so much laughter, some really “real” conversations too. I will miss him, i can see that beautiful smile and feel that hug.... he was a good hugger. I love you Chantry Lynn.
Much love Chase, Vicki and Collin..... Aunt Mary and Uncle Howard.

“ Chantry was my duplex neighbor. From the first time we met & he cracked a joke I knew we would be great friends. From then he was always always there for me, when I needed someone, when I was scared and alone at home. I could always alwayscount on him, we shared stories of our past, our regrets, mistakes. He as well as all of us, had our own demons we fought/fight. What id give to just argue with him over something small again. Just to hear his voice. To hear him call me “gallina”. He was such a special person, someone who could without a doubt make me laugh. The news of his passing is heart wrenching , I’m not sure I’ll ever be the same. Just know that if any of you need anything or need anyone to talk to, cry with, vent to.. I’ll be here. Because he showed me how to have better sides of myself & to how to pass them on to others. You’re forever home chantry. I miss you already.

“ I met Chantry while I was going to school at UT Tyler and working at Outback. Chantry was always quick with a joke and he was always smiling. Chantry made everything more bearable. The monotony of a long Sunday shift, Chantry was there. If you needed some musical trivia answered, Chantry was there. He was able to bring the best out of people in that rare way that most couldn't. He wasn't perfect by any stretch and he certainly had his demons but so many of us did. I just hope that he has found peace now even though knowing that his passing definitely left a void here for us. Solidarity brother. Cheers and I hope to see you on the other side.

“ Vicki, Chase & Family , please know that we are praying for your comfort and peace at this very difficult time. I can see Chantry from an early age as he & QUINN shared so many years of school together. His beautiful smile, those gorgeous eyes - such a handsome boy. So smart and clever, he was greatly loved by his classmates and teachers.
