“ I want you to know that Karly prayed for her "Cooger" every day from the time she could talk. She always prayed for him in her Sunday School class and her teachers would always ask who this special "Cooger" was that Karly loved so much. He is probably the reason that she is such a great prayer warrior now. Karly loved to go over and visit Cooger and her greatest joy was to take him his mail when he could no longer make it all the way up the driveway to the mailbox. They both got the biggest kick out of their green mailbox delivery system.

*Cooger (yes, Kevin and I also call him that now - we've heard it for 12 years!) was very faithful at keeping an eye on things around here, especially if Kevin was out of town. He was good about calling to check on me and always knew when one of us was sick or hurt and would check in on us. I think our favorite part of being Cooger's neighbor was how excited he'd get when Kevin got a deer because he knew the fried deer steak and gravy weren't far behind!
He was loved!*

I am so sorry for the loss of your dad. It has been less than a month since dad died and each day will get easier with the pain and tears, but they are never forgotten. I know you take great comfort in knowing Poppy isn't suffering anymore. He is now at peace holding hands with your mom. Heaven is a brighter place today because he is there. My thoughts and prayers are with you.
