“Debbie and I grew up 1 1/2 miles from each other and went to the same Jr High. Our children were classmates in the 3rd grade and friends through high school and beyond. We had separate career paths at PG&E but joined forces in 1996 when we finally met and she was my journeyman and I was the apprentice. Debbie was an excellent teacher and we became friends. We never really needed a reason for a "Girls Trip" and we had many going to Reno and Las Vegas. One of the best was when I talked her and Sharon into riding the Big Shot on top of the Stratosphere. There is a hilarious photo of us floating around somewhere. That was the first and only time she would ever let me talk her into something. We also had the same eye doctor and by chance we had the same style glasses. While at work one day she picked up the glasses off the desk and was looking at the computer. She was going on and on about how the transformer icons were in 3-D and isn't this amazing. Then I told her she had my prescription glasses on. Over the years we had the serious conversations of taking care of our parents and the laughter and sharing the sadness that true friendship brings. She was an amazing person that was never afraid to speak her mind. I am thankful for the memories and laughter we shared. My heart goes out to Craig and Will but I know Debbie will be watching over them.
