“ I've known Flo since I moved to Tyler in 1982. I played in her games when she directed at Hollytree on Tuesday nights, and she and my husband Wayne were partners for several years after he retired. She and I loved to talk politics. She would save all her political magazines and newsletters and pass them along to me. Wayne and I used to run into her and Pete at Shreveport and we'd have the best time trying to "hit" something. I always thought Flo was quite attractive but the last time I saw her, just a few months ago, she looked particularly beautiful. Her eyes were so clear and she'd just had her hair done and I told her how pretty she was. I always enjoyed visiting and laughing with Flo. She could be so funny. It's always enjoyable to be around people who think the way you do, and Flo and I agreed on just about everything we discussed. I would voice an opinion and she would say, "Absolutely!" and she would tell me something and I would say, "Exactly!" I will miss your mother, as will all the bridge community. My husband Wayne joins me in thoughts and prayers for Flo's family. Warmest regards, LaJuana Rogers
