“ I wonder how many of Jim's friends or his wife would feel about this 'wonderful' man if they knew he carried on a destructive affair with a young woman in her 20s who rented a house from him in the 90's. Yeah...nice guy. Pardon me if I don't mourn his passing.

“ I always remember Jim being happy and on the go. He never wanted to slow down. He loved his family, Vickie and James and his parents and siblings. I knew Jim for many years and he was always positive and kind. I will truly miss him. The best compliment I could ever give him is what a wonderful and loving father he was. I used to tease Jim that he didn't know what he was missing in life until he had children. When James came into his life he knew what I meant.
