“ Though this was taken at a time in my life I don't care to remember, it's the last picture I have together with these two precious souls. I didn't meet Uncle Jim and Aunt Beth until later in life but they took me in like time had never passed and I will forever be grateful for the time I spent with them ❤️

I had dinner last night, in honor of them, at their favorite place to take me.

“ We were lucky enough to become a part of Jim's life when we were teenagers.

Three teenage girls. All at once. With all the drama and hormones you would expect from girls that age. We don't know how or why he put up with us. We are just very grateful that he did.

We love you, Jim and we know that we were lucky enough to be loved by you as well.

God bless you and your family.

We miss you.

In the interest of truth and fairness I need to clarify. Karen and Gayle were easy on Jim and our mom. I was the one who tried their patience and brought on headaches.

The Rowleys were some of the first neighbors I had when I moved back to Tyler. It was a pleasure getting to visit with them. We shared a very special Thanksgiving together one year, along with some of the other neighbors who are also gone now. I will never forget that special time. My condolences to your family.
