“ To the Norman family... Today, by pure happenstance, I learned of Macs' passing. I am so sorry got your loss. I hope the family is finding comfort in one another.

Many years have gone by since I last saw Mac. Decades actually. Yet, when I read the sad news, the distant memories came flooding forward. Memories of a good man. A kind man, quick with a smile and talent with a hammer. His witty words could spring like traps. Always set and lightning fast. Just waiting on someone to take the bait. However, my fondest memory of Mac was the way he would laugh at his own wittiness. Well, not really laugh but a proud giggle. I can hear it as I write this. A wonderful way to remember Mac and giggle a little too. I pray someday your family will find comfort and peace so you can also. Please accept my heartfelt symphany and warmest condolences in your time of grief.

Sincerely, Lynne Sallee

Just recently learned of the passing of Mac. Our hearts are saddened to hear this news. Mac was loved by so many and will be so missed. He was a treasured family friend will be remembered by his smile always filling the room. And his jokes! Oh, the jokes; some funny, some "flat." But we laughed anyway. Mac loved and was "from the heart" kind to everyone.

*Rest In Peace precious friend.
