“ I recall John and I were selling Christmas Cards (one-time only) to make some money back in the late 1950s, going door to door in Kewanna, but most of the cards were sold to John's many relatives who lived in Kewanna, otherwise we still would have those Christmas cards.....

“ John Good was perhaps my best neighbor and a good friend. We had many good talks about our Air Force duty and shared our political views. I once told him he should run for president. He just laughed. He always was full of laughter even when he felt bad. I missed him when he moved away and will not forget him.
I am so sorry for your loss. He fought a hard battle.
