“ I will miss her perfect clothes and accessories, her grace--I just received a card from her for a Get Well wish and she took time to search the perfect card for me--baby bluebirds on the card--will frame it.

We are starting a fund at the Tyler ISD Foundation with funds going to a teacher in the classroom--to help the teacher with an innovative program or field trip--so often teachers have to pay 'out of pocket'....we will do a grant in honor of Marjorie Boyd and remember her teaching gifted students.

My favorite memory? She and I some reason got up earlier than everyone on a trip to New York City and we had a wonderful breakfast near Grand Central Station watching the snow fall and enjoying telling of joyous stories--she was a positive person and found joy in all things/people around her.

Loved her nice clothes and great style.

“ When I think of Marjorie, I remember her as a very positive person, always upbeat about every situation. She talked with love about her family, her sons, daughters-in-law, and grandchildren. She talked about how much she missed her husband and looked forward to being with him again in Heaven.

She was a wonderful Christian woman, very strong in her faith. We had many conversations about how much God has done for us. I definitely miss her.
