“ I just adored Vickie. She was bubbly and funny and so sweet! And she loved Jesus and her family something fierce! She would send me the sweetest notes about our children. I often told Stephen, she feels like a bonus Grandma to me and that's what made our family so special. Vickie and Ruben came to Houston as much as they could for their grandkids and Vickie always had some funny story and a big hug. Our family will miss her. Ruben, Chris and Julie, our most heartfelt condolences. We love y'all. May she rest in the sweetest peace until you are together again. ❤️

“ Reuben, Chris and Julie - I am so sad to learn of Vickie's passing. I know how it hurts. But I know that you all are strong Christians and you know that Vickie is in the arms of Jesus. She has never been more happy than she is right now. We Christians know that and it is so comforting. Praise God for that. But her passing still hurts. It might sound strange but I never felt closer to God than I did when Vivian died. The Holy Spirit had me wrapped in His arms and did give me His Peace that passes all human understanding. It felt wonderful in the midst of what was the worse thing that ever happened to me. And then I wandered away from that Peace as I tried to grieve my way. Please accept God's peace. It's okay to cry and even get mad at God. He understands and loves you so much. This extreme sadness will ease as days go by, but they will never leave entirely. Just be comforted that because of Jesus, Vickie will be waiting for each of you in Heaven. She has passed into Eternity where there are no more tears or sorrows. I will be praying for you in the coming months. May God bless you all richly as you go through this valley.
