*We were neighbors with Roy and Cora and we thoroughly enjoyed our visits with them. Roy was always the entertainer - laughing and joking and making everyone smile. One day he decided that he and Peggy were somehow related so from then on they called one another 'Cuz'. In talking to Roy it became obvious that underneath the laughing and joking was a man with a very sharp mind. Whether we talked about the weather or politics or whatever, Roy could hold his own and usually taught you a few things that you didn't know. He was a great guy and he will be missed.
Rest in peace, Cuz.*

*It's been 3 years and some months and it still feels like yesterday that you went on to glory. Do I still cry? Yes, I do. I miss you so much. But to ask the Lord to keep you here would've been selfish. I miss the talks, the jokes, your laughter, and the lessons. You will always be in my heart of memories. I will continue to speak highly of you to any and everyone who will listen. RIH Daddy Joe, always and forever

“ Daddy joe I'm really going to miss you but I know you will always be with me. You kept me laughing and also kept me up on knowledge. I remember when you taught me to drive that tractor as a kid and your white Chevy truck you would let me drive it to the end of the driveway and get on my bus (limo) is what you called it. I would get my coffee cup and drink coffee with you in the morning as a kid with my toast. I'm going to miss you so much but you're able to rest now no more hurting for you. Rest Easy love you always your daughter Kenya
