“ Scott was an amiable soul, always content to take a back seat to stronger personalities in the room. Though he seldom sought to dominate a conversation, he always appreciated being a part of the discussion. He was thoughtful and had the kind of genuine laugh that made you feel good about making him laugh. Scott was a very welcome part of my family's gatherings and celebrations during the years he lived in Georgia; they all were greatly saddened to hear of his passing. May God grant him eternal life and peace in His presence.
