“ I will never forget you, my ole buddy. Riding on my motor bike or going in the ditch on my motorcycle at the parade plant. Maybe the time the left wheel almost came off my Piper Cub when we took off from a pasture at Van. From grade school at London to becoming a Fighting Texas Aggie. You wore the senior boots, I couldn't fight the corps and engineering at the same time, so I never got to wear them even though I still think they're the best looking military uniform there is. We won't be parted for long as we all love our Savior and know we'll see each other again, this life is short compared to eternity. I know you're passing has grieved your family more than anyone and they are joined by many others that knew and loved you. It was a great honor to be your friend. James W. 'Jimmy' Miller
